Coal and other articles of the Dominion, in Mont-troy, New Brunswick, Alberta, the Yukon Territory, and North-West Territories and British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty years, or an annual rental of one acre. No more than 200 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made to the land or sub-agent of the district in which the land is situated. The land must be described by section, or legal subdivisions of section, and in surveyed territory the tract applied for shall be sketched out.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $1, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available but not otherwise.
A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

Every lease of coal mining rights which are not being worked shall terminate the district agent of the district in which the land is situated at least once in each year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 per acre.

For full information regarding the application made to the district agent of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of the Dominion lands.

KILLED BY AN ASSASSIN

OF THE PASS DISTRICT OF MONT-TROY, N.B. APRIL 10, 1908.

NO CLUE TO MURDERER

Murder most foul: was committed in Frank in the early hours of Sunday last.

Constable G. E. Willmetts of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police was done to death while on patrol duty in connection with an effort on the part of the police to ferret out petty burglars of recent occurrence.

There is no one who ever to the perpetrator of the crime but it is supposed that the officer apprehended one or more persons in the act of committing a burglary and that he was killed in the effort to do so.

The instrument of death employed by the murderer was a shot gun, a circumstance from which it is inferred that the crime was that of someone living in the district as it is not considered likely professional criminals frequent the district would in any probability be thus armed.

The murder is the first a fatal crime ever committed in Frank and the most atrocious one ever committed in The Pass district.

The crime is currently supposed to have been the outgrowth of the poverty and down of the mines in the immediate vicinity of Frank.
Many of the miners are in straitened circumstances and as among large numbers of unemployed men there are always certain ones capable of crime of lesser or greater degree, there has been considerable petty criminality of late. Tuesday night of last week, the store of the Kribs Hardware Company was broken into and a small amount of money taken.

The following night an attempt at burglary was committed at the Imperial hotel when an effort to get in to the bar room was made.

Following is a report of the attempt of the Imperial, Sargent W. W. Has-lett of the mounted police determined to try to put a stop to the practice and arranged for a change of because himself and his men, Constable Willmetts, for night patrol.
Sergeant Haslett took the early shift and patrolled the town until about three o'clock in the morning when he would call Constable Willmetts to finish out the night. This he did on Saturday night or three nights ago.

It was about 2 o'clock Sunday morning that Sergeant Haslett went to the barracks and awakened Constable Willmetts. He left the barracks while the constable was dressing and went to the Imperial and went to bed.

About 5 o'clock Sunday morning one of the Chinese employed in the kitchen of the hotel, got up to build his fire. The Chinese sleep in a small building across the alley from the hotel at the rear. Crossing the alley, the Chinese saw the body of a man and told the other Chinese a drunken man was lying in the alley. A second Chinese came out to investigate and discovered the man was dead. He notified Clifford Stevens, night clerk at the Imperial who recognized in the dead man, Constable Willmetts and quickly summoned Sergeant Haslett.

Sergeant Haslett dressed hurriedly and at once took direction of the case. He found the constable lying on his back in the alley a little to the north of the Imperial hotel in the alley. A single wound in the neck told he had lost his life. On examining the wound it was found to have been inflicted by a shot gun and at very close range as the walls were imbedded in the flesh. The constable's vest had been torn and there were other signs of a struggle but that was all.
There was nothing to indicate the perpetrator of the crime, and also nothing to suggest a starting point from which the officers might work.

Sergeant Haslett removed the body to the sample rooms of the hotel where it was viewed by a coroner's jury which was at once summoned.
The body was then removed to the undertaking parlors of Robert Addison at Blairmore where it was prepared for burial and shipped to Macleod Monday evening.

The inquest was held Monday by Coroner Disney of Coleman. The evidence brought out the facts as here related and a verdict of death from a gun shot wound inflicted by an unknown person was returned.

Constable Willmetts, when killed, was dressed in civil clothes, the better to work, as it was desired to work on the quiet and a most singular circumstance was that while he carried a revolver, he had no ammunition with him and this fact, in all probability accounts for his death, as he met a man who was armed while he was unarmed himself.

The officers of the police who are here in charge of the investigation, are at a loss for a satisfactory theory as to what really happened. They can only presume that Constable Willmetts detected someone in the act of committing a crime, probably a burglary and attempted an arrest.
What happened thereafter, they cannot devise a theory to fit. That the constable and his slayer came together, seems apparent but whether the shot was fired by design or whether the two men were struggling for possession of the gun and the weapon was discharged by accident they can not form a conclusion.

The theory has been advanced by some persons that the crime was committed by a person having it in for the police and was not the result of a determination of a criminal but the officers of the force take no stock in the idea.

Word of the murder was telegraphed to police headquarters at Macleod and Superintendent Primrose and Inspector Belcher of Pincher Creek, head of the local detachment, reached Frank Sunday by freight. Investigator Piprand Egan, Sergeant Major Kerton and other members of the force are also on the ground and a drag net has been laid over the entire district in the effort to bring the murderer to book but as yet there is no small chance that success will crown their efforts.

Sergeant Major Haven of Leith bridge, arrived Tuesday morning with a constable and a dog. There was much hope that the dog could be of assistance but from the fact that there seemed good reason to believe the murderer was not far off, it was not at all surprising that the dog was not of much use. The dog was sent to the constable from the town coming of the constable but it was not of much use. After being given a small of the constable's vest the hound led off to a shack on the river bank and it was quite clear the authorities of the murder.

Several suspects have been taken up and investigated but of the number, only one has been detained. He is Frank Carrara, a bar tender who has been at different times employed at the Imperial and Frank hotels.
Carrara is said to have been overheard Tuesday to remark that it would be a good thing if the police were treated as was Willmetts.
From the fact that Carrara had been in trouble before, that he had worked at the Imperial and was familiar with the premises, it was felt there was at least ground for suspicion that he knew at least something of the attempted burglar, and to be sure of having him in the great or is wanted he was charged with assault and sent to Macleod for two months to await the result of the investigation.

Constable G. E. Willmetts was about twenty four years of age and single.
He was a native of Derbyshire, England. He had been in the force some time over a year and had been in the rank of constable a little over a month. As far as has been ascertained he has no relatives in this country but he has a father and a sister in England. During the time he had been in Frank he had been well liked by all who had known him and his death was a great loss to the community. He was naturally death and many and sincere are the words of sympathy and regret may hear on every hand.

WORK STARTS AT BELLEVUE

WEST CANADIAN COMPANY RE-SUMES OPERATIONS THERE.

RUNNING FULL TIME

Contracts secured to enable the Company to operate at Bellevue and Capacity—Work started Monday and Everyone is Glad—Coal Goes to Canadian Northern.

The West Canadian Collieries has resumed operations at Bellevue and the people of that camp are in consequence, happy once more.

The company has secured a contract from the Canadian Northern which together with other available market will enable it to operate at practically full capacity. Work started Monday and it is expected the mine will continue working from this time.

There is a much more hopeful feeling at Bellevue, also, as the train has been running some days, gathering wood for warming the coke ovens which is taken by the residents to indicate a resumption of operations in the near future.

AN UNEXPECTED CRITICISM

In last week's issue THE FRANK PAPER published what purported to be a communication from a taxpayer in which the village council was severely criticised. In publishing the writing we did not violate the rule of this paper against opening its columns to communications. The document was published as paid matter and was paid for at column rates.

The unfairness of the criticisms we believe furnishes the best possible justification for our refusal to publish free communications. We may not have a proper understanding of the ethics of such things but to our mind there is no good reason why a newspaper should open its columns to communications and thereby open the way for one person to unjustly attack another in print. But if a person wishes to buy space it is no one's business what he puts in it and the fact of its being known as paid matter removes its hurt.

Dealing with the communication The Frank PAPER deems it fitting and but fair to the councillors attacked, to point out wherein we regard the criticism as unfair. In the beginning, the article is written in a sarcastic vein calculated to belittle the members of the council, something which we do not believe is justified by anything the council has or has not done as yet. Next, the strong point made against the council is that the attempt of the business men of the town to run the local electric light plant has failed and the council is held responsible. Nothing in our judgment could be more unjust. The council as a council had absolutely nothing to do with that matter. That was simply a commonwealth undertaking among the businessmen and while one member of the council had perhaps more to do with the large deficit than any other person, still as a councillor he was not blameable. It may be argued that the council, being a responsible body should have seen that the light committee did its duty but it would not be a just argument. Any person willing to look at the case with an impartial mind will agree the council had no reason whatever to interfere with the matter.

As to aspersions cast relative to the proposal to establish a municipal light plant by utilizing the water of Gold Creek, that too is wholly unwarranted. The council company has not as charged, protracted the water rights on Gold Creek and will not attempt further to do so, while the council has done all it could do thus far toward carrying out that project.

The only points made in the article referred to wherein THE FRANK PAPER considers the council can in any manner be held blameable, refer to a pig pen behind the Imperial Hotel (all men know that is the place referred to) behind the water overflow from the C.P.R. tank flooding Mr. Manley's cellar. If the charges in these two respects are true it is undoubtedly the duty of the council to find a remedy but after all is said and done, the members of the council have not been in office long enough to warrant any such general criticism. If there were no other reason for delay on the part of the council in getting at the cause of the village, the weather has afforded sufficient excuse for little having been done.

THE FRANK PAPER would say, give the council time and the opportunity to perform the things expected of it, then if the members fail in their duty it will be time enough to bring forth the proof. And THE FRANK PAPER wishes to go on record right here as declaring that if the council, after it has had reasonable time and opportunity to do the things the majority of the taxpayers desire to have done falls in its duty, this paper will be the first to voice a fair criticism. But to all fairness believe in waiting until there has been ample opportunity for the members to carry out their ante election pledges before jumping on them. If their pledges are fulfilled we shall all be well satisfied.
